

OneLove

Community Service Experience

One Love Learning Foundation

Community Service Activity

Farm to Table

The historic Hammerstein Highland House, formerly owned by Oscar Hammerstein, is the setting for this unique socially responsible group activity. Set on 17 acres, The Hammerstein Highland House is also the home of the local “One Love Garden.” One Love’s mission is to help provide fresh fruits and vegetables to impoverished local school children in Jamaica.

Your group’s participants will be transferred to Highland House Estate. The day begins with refreshments on the terrace while being given a brief history of this unique property. Then the group will move on to the estate’s 3-acre organic garden where they will learn about local farming techniques. Participants will begin picking vegetables and fruits, filling up locally made baskets from the Cumi Rehabilitation Center. This fresh-picked bounty, along with added basics like flour, sugar, rice and oil, will become a nutritious meal for local school children.

The biggest reward comes next! Your group will be transferred to a local school and have the opportunity to present their baskets to the children personally! In addition, the group will have an opportunity to tour the school and experience first-hand the challenges the students face every day. This activity is designed to heighten awareness of the needs of children in 3rd world countries and to discover what little effort it takes to make a big

www.onelovelearningfoundation.org*

One Love Learning Foundation is a non-profit organization that unites students from Jamaica, Atlanta and Africa through shared learning experiences in organic farming, music and dance. Loving and empowering children by providing them with the tools to satisfy their basic human needs while facilitating communication with other children around the world to eliminate cultural barriers and fear.*